METHODOLOGY:

This bill requires additional dyslexia and related disorder screening and intervention for kindergarten through second grade students. The Department of Education states it does not know each individual local school district's current practices regarding the evidence-based screeners and provision for modified, differentiation, or supplementary evidence-based instruction of identified students, and therefore is unable to estimate this bill's potential impact on local school district expenditures. It is assumed any costs to districts would occur in FY 2024 and beyond.
