METHODOLOGY:

This bill requires the Attorney General to conduct investigations into certain prohibited conduct with respect to firearms sales and authorizes it to issue subpoenas and assess civil penalties. Although it is difficult to estimate the number of anticipated investigations generated by this proposed bill, the Department of Justice states its Public Safety and Infrastructure Bureau would require, at a minimum, one (1) additional part-time investigator and one (1) part-time attorney to implement this bill. The estimated cost for these two positions is approximately $90,000 per year.
